- (3) The equal employment provisions of KRS 45.560 to 45.640 may be met in part by a contractor by subcontracting to a minority contractor or subcontractor. For the provisions of KRS 45.560 to 45.640, a minority contractor or subcontractor shall mean a business that is owned and controlled by one or more persons disadvantaged by racial or ethnic circumstances.*

KRS 45.630 Termination of existing employee not required, when

In the case of a contract exceeding $250,000, the contractor is required to furnish evidence that his work-force in Kentucky is representative of the available work-force in the area from which he draws employees, or to supply an Affirmative Action plan which will achieve such representation during the life of the contract.

It is expressly agreed that the LFUCG shall not activate this non-appropriation provision for its convenience or to circumvent the requirements of this contract, but only as an emergency fiscal measure during a substantial fiscal crisis, which affects generally its governmental operations.

In the event of a change in the LFUCG's statutory authority, mandate and mandated functions, by state and federal legislative or regulatory action, which adversely affects the LFUCG's authority to continue its obligations under this contract, then this contract shall automatically terminate without penalty to the LFUCG upon written notice to Contractor of such limitation or change in the LFUCG's legal authority.

EQUAL OPPORTUNITY AGREEMENT

Standard Title VI Assurance

The Lexington Fayette-Urban County Government, (hereinafter referred to as the "Recipient") hereby agrees that as a condition to receiving any Federal financial assistance from the U.S. Department of Transportation, it will comply with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, 78Stat.252, 42 U.S.C. 2000d-4 (hereinafter referred to as the "Act"), and all requirements imposed by or pursuant to Title 49, Code of Federal Regulations, U.S. Department of Transportation, Subtitle A, Office of the Secretary, (49 CFR, Part 21) Nondiscrimination in Federally Assisted Program of the Department of Transportation – Effectuation of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (hereinafter referred to as the "Regulations") and other pertinent directives, no person in the United States shall, on the grounds of race, color, national origin, sex, age (over 40), religion, sexual orientation, gender identity, veteran status, or disability be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be otherwise subjected to discrimination under any program or activity for which the Recipient receives Federal financial assistance from the U.S. Department of Transportation, including the Federal Highway Administration, and hereby gives assurance that will promptly take any necessary measures to effectuate this agreement. This assurance is required by subsection 21.7(a) (1) of the Regulations.

The Law

- Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (amended 1972) states that it is unlawful for an employer to discriminate in employment because of race, color, religion, sex, age (40-70 years) or national origin.
- Executive Order No. 11246 on Nondiscrimination under Federal contract prohibits employment discrimination by contractor and sub-contractor doing business with the Federal Government or recipients of Federal funds. This order was later amended by Executive Order No. 11375 to prohibit discrimination on the basis of sex.
- Section 503 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 states: The Contractor will not discriminate against any employee or applicant for employment because of physical or mental disability.
- Section 2012 of the Vietnam Era Veterans Readjustment Act of 1973 requires Affirmative Action on behalf of disabled veterans and veterans of the Vietnam Era by contractors having Federal contracts.
- Section 206(A) of Executive Order 12086, Consolidation of Contract Compliance Functions for Equal Employment Opportunity, states: The Secretary of Labor may investigate the employment practices of any Government contractor or sub-contractor to determine whether or not the contractual provisions specified in Section 202 of this order have been violated.

The Lexington-Fayette Urban County Government practices Equal Opportunity in recruiting, hiring and promoting. It is the Government's intent to affirmatively provide employment opportunities for those individuals who have previously not been allowed to enter into the mainstream of society. Because of its importance to the local Government, this policy carries the full endorsement of the Mayor, Commissioners, Directors and all supervisory personnel. In following this commitment to Equal Employment Opportunity and because the Government is the benefactor of the Federal funds, it is both against the Urban County Government policy and illegal for the Government to let contracts to companies which knowingly or unknowingly practice discrimination in their employment practices. Violation of the above mentioned ordinances may cause a contract to be canceled and the contractors may be declared ineligible for future consideration.

Please sign this statement in the appropriate space acknowledging that you have read and understand the provisions contained herein. Return this document as part of your application packet.

Accessible Gate Latch

James "Scott" Groenier, Project Leader

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA), Forest Service and other land-management agencies need a gate latch that meets Federal accessibility requirements. Such a latch would allow persons with disabilities to open and close a gate.

The Americans with Disabilities Act/Architectural Barriers Act Accessibility Guidelines (ADA/ABAAG) require that controls to operate devices such as a gate latch must:

- Be operable with one hand
- Require no more than 5 pounds of force
- Not require the user to pinch or grasp the controls or twist the wrist

The USDA Office of General Counsel has determined that when the Forest Service installs a gate, berm, or other type of barrier on a road or trail to restrict motor vehicle traffic and when foot travel is encouraged beyond the restriction device, a passage that is at least 32 inches wide must be available around that closure.

This requirement ensures that a person who uses a wheelchair can access the area behind the restriction. When a restriction device closes with a latch, the latching mechanism must meet the ADA/ABAAG requirements for operating controls.

Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 states that no person can be "excluded from participation" in a Federal agency opportunity that is open to all other people solely because that person has a disability. Under these regulations, a wheelchair that meets the legal definition of a wheelchair or mobility device can be used anywhere foot travel is allowed.

Development of the Accessible Ring Latch

A market search for accessible gate latches found just one latch that came close to meeting the requirements. The EquiCatch Latch, manufactured in the United Kingdom by Syspal Ltd. for Snug Cottage Hardware, can be operated with one hand, but requires more than 5 pounds of force to operate. The Ring Latch (figure 1), manufactured by Hamilton Hinge Co. of ### Highlights...

- A gate latch has been developed that meets Federal accessibility requirements.
- The new latch can be operated with no more than 5 pounds of force using one hand, without having to twist the wrist or pinch or grasp the controls.

Corvallis, MT (406-961-4086), required less than 5 pounds of force, but required two hands for operation.

MTDC contacted Loyd Beaver, the owner of Hamilton Hinge Co., to discuss modifying the existing latch to make it accessible. At the time, Beaver did not have a latch design that would meet the requirements for accessibility. He agreed to work with MTDC to see if one could be developed. A collaborative effort produced the Accessible Ring Latch (figure 2) design.

The parts of the latch illustrated here have been painted different colors to help show how the latch works. The rings that keep the gate closed are black. The guard ring that discourages horses from opening the gate is red. The lever that lifts the rings so the gate will open is green. The gate pin is yellow.

This new ring latch meets the ADA/ABAAG Accessibility Guidelines requirements. It can be opened with less than 5 pounds of force and the gate can be pushed open with a closed hand or an elbow, without twisting the wrist or pinching or grasping the rings or the gate.

The latch must be mounted between 15 and 48 inches above the ground and the reach must not be obstructed.

The latch still has minor problems. A second guard ring (gray) can be built into the design to further discourage horses (figure 3) from playing with the mechanism. The guard rings are stock resistant, but not stock proof. Clever horses with lots of time may open the latch eventually. Another common problem for all gates is normal wear and tear that causes the gates to fall out of alignment. Periodic gate maintenance is needed to keep the gate working properly.

Figure 3—An Accessible Ring Latch with guard rings (gray and red) on both sides of the lever to make it difficult for horses to open the latch.

Operating the Accessible Ring Latch

The Accessible Ring Latch is easy to use. One caution: Do not push on the gate before pressing down on the lever or the ring will bind.

1. Press down on the lever with your hand or elbow (figure 4).
2. Continue to press down until the ring on the far side lifts to its highest position (figure 5).
3. Rotate your arm or hand to put slight pressure on the gate (figure 6).
4. Release the lever (figure 7).
5. The gate is open (figure 8).

Figure 5—When the lever (green) is pressed down, one ring (black) is lifted out of the way.

Another Gate Latch

The EquiCatch Latch (figure 9), manufactured in the United Kingdom, was “designed to fulfill the needs of the DDA,” the United Kingdom’s Disability Discrimination Act (1995). The requirements of that act differ from the accessibility requirements in the United States.

Figure 9—The EquiCatch manufactured for Snug Cottage Hardware came close to meeting the Federal accessibility requirements.

Opening the latch required more than the 5 pounds of force allowed by Federal accessibility requirements, even when the latch was lifted from the center. When the latch was lifted from one edge with a closed fist, it required even more force to open.

More information about the EquiCatch can be found at <http://www.snugcottageimports.com>.

Summary

The Accessible Ring Latch can be opened with one closed hand, with less than 5 pounds of force, and without twisting the wrist or pinching or grasping the controls. The new latch will help provide access to public lands for all people.

This tech tip describes a new gate latch that meets the Federal accessibility requirements. The latch would allow people with disabilities to open a gate with less than 5 pounds of force using one hand, without twisting the wrist or pinching or grasping the controls. The Missoula Technology and Development Center worked with Loyd Beaver of the Hamilton Hinge Co. to modify the company’s ring latch so that it would be accessible.
