National Preparedness Reporting Compliance

The Government Performance and Results Act of 1993 (Public Law 103-62) requires that the Department collect and report performance information on all programs. The NRP assists in the important homeland security mission of preventing terrorist attacks within the United States; reducing the vulnerability to all natural and manmade hazards and minimizing the damage and assisting in the recovery from any type of incident that occurs. Compliance with the NRP coordinating structures, protocols and processes is essential for ensuring a national comprehensive approach to domestic incident managements
