Maintenance Renewal for OnBase Enterprise License

Overview

Lexington Fayette Urban County Government (LFUCG) acquired a site license for OnBase, originally purchased as LibertyNet document management software in 1999. OnBase has been implemented in multiple departments, including:

Building and Inspection	Water Quality
Clerk's Office	Office of Public Information
Computer Services	Emergency Management
Human Resources	Engineering
Revenue	Information Services

OnBase Enterprise Content Management (ECM) software, a product of Hyland Software, is one of the top rated ECM products in the world, with over 12,000 organizations using the software. VeBridge, formerly Source Imaging, a Lexington technology company, provides the maintenance, technical support and associated technology services to LFUCG in support of OnBase. VeBridge is a certified OnBase reseller and support provider.

With the implementation of the Accela product for Water Quality, the OnBase and Accela applications were tightly integrated. VeBridge has been the source of several custom integrations. Support for these integrations are included in the annual maintenance fees paid by LFUCG. OnBase provides a robust infrastructure to support true e-government through a long-term enterprise-wide implementation. With OnBase's ability to provide tight integration with other LFUCG core systems, such as PeopleSoft and ESRI, it provides yet another industry-leading knowledge management system to support LFUCG.
