PROJECT PLAN ELEMENTS

The purpose of this grant is to conduct a year-long public education and involvement campaign designed to empower Lexington homeowners through improving water quality in their backyard, and PreK-12 students through direct education that creates a deep understanding and appreciation of their role in stormwater quality.

- 1) Mini-Grant Program: Through an application process, the Mini-Grant Program will equip local homeowners with funding and expertise to plant riparian buffers on backyard streams or install rain gardens on their residential lots.
- 2) Public Education: Homeowners will be required to attend at least one in-person, or live zoom, education workshop. This will help participants understand the importance of water quality as well as help them understand Lexington's priority stormwater issues. In addition, the workshops will describe in detail the steps and information needed to install both a rain garden and a riparian buffer, including site preparation, plant selection, and maintenance. Assuming public gatherings are allowed, workshops will be held at locations that already have stormwater BMPs that can be used as part of the demonstration and education piece.

Lexington PreK-12 youth and their parents will be educated to understand their connection to water and its importance throughout the city. Preschoolers will be taught social cooperation skills, problem-solving, and independent behaviors using water and water quality as the integrating context. Elementary, middle, and high school students will experience a full day of creekside learning as they develop an understanding of how their actions and behaviors affect water quality. All K-12 activities will be aligned to Kentucky Academic Standards as well as the North American Association of Environmental Educators Guidelines for Excellence.

The student education activities will be aligned to Kentucky Academic Standards and will follow the North American Association of Environmental Education Guidelines for Excellence (naaee.org).

Junior Nature Explorers (JNE) reaches students at the earliest stages of learning, creating a solid foundation on which future learning and appreciation of the natural world will be built. Over one year, Bluegrass Greensource will work with 25 preschool classes, which will each receive four lessons that guide students in exploration and play around water. All lessons will originate or be adapted from the early childhood modules of Project WILD, and similar curricula. Lessons will be experiential, incorporating indoor and outdoor learning, and will provide opportunities for hands-on experiences with the natural world and local waterways. For example, students might test objects to see if they sink or float, go on a pretend boat ride to explore and move like the animals they see; or build an aquatic habitat for an animal. This early introduction to water and scientific thinking provides a necessary foundation on which students' skills and knowledge will grow. Each student will receive a “Family Connections Card” to take home after each BGGGS visit. This card will include vocabulary they have learned, questions family members can / should ask their students, and ideas for continuing their students' learning outside of the classroom. If possible, the program will culminate in a field trip or classroom project / event. JNE instills social cooperation skills, problem-solving, and independent behaviors in students, all of which align with Kentucky's early childhood standards. By modeling environmental education best practices, JNE enhances the capacity of early childhood educators to continue replicating these lessons and practices.

The Creek Days Program will allow Bluegrass Greensource's expert environmental educators to work alongside elementary, middle, and high schools in Fayette County to organize full-day, water quality, hands-on learning experiences for students and teachers. BGGGS will lead Creek Days, inviting other local experts to participate by sharing activities and expertise. Students will spend their whole day focused on water quality, by participating in classroom and outdoor activities. Bluegrass Greensource will organize and provide materials for activities leading up to the event.

Bluegrass Greensource will organize spring and fall Creek Days for interested schools, many of which have access to a creek on or nearby their grounds. Alongside teachers and other local experts, Bluegrass Greensource will lead students in a creek walk, macroinvertebrate survey, and water testing. By participating in Creek Days, students develop problem-solving skills, social skills, and scientific thinking skills, as well as a connection to their local community and waterways.

TARGET AUDIENCE

Homeowners - The Mini-Grant Program will be geared toward homeowners and will be promoted through neighborhood associations, social media, and Lexington Council members. Homeowners with a backyard stream will be encouraged to participate in the riparian buffer program, while those that are interested in water quality but do not live on a stream, will be encouraged to participate in the rain garden program. While the educational workshops will be required for those interested in applying for a grant, they will be open to anyone interested in learning more about backyard water quality improvement. We anticipate 30 people attending the workshops(s) and awarding 15 Mini-Grants.

PreK-12 - The student-focused programs will target PreK-12 students throughout Lexington schools. Bluegrass Greensource has been doing versions of both the JNE and Creek Days Programs for many years, with great success, and are continually asked by teachers to do more than our current funding allows. Environmental education standards suggest that students who are immersed in subject matter, through direct and sustained contact like that provided through Creek Days and Junior Nature Explorers, have more success in retaining information.

This proposal anticipates working with a total of 3,000 K-12 students through full-day Creek Days at schools with direct or walkable access to local streams. Each school will choose either two full days for half the classes or a full day for the entire school. We anticipate an average of 300 students per day for a total of 3,000 for the entire Creek Day Program.

The JNE Program will focus on Lexington preschools and aims to work with a total of 25 preschool classes. Each class of approximately 15 students will participate in four water quality lessons for a total of 1,500 direct interactions. In addition to direct contact with students, information about the program and what the students learned will be sent home to increase the audience size to include their families.

PROJECT SUSTAINABILITY

- 1) Long-term Component for Ongoing Education and Involvement: Bluegrass Greensource's mission is to empower the Bluegrass to create a sustainable environment. We do this by encouraging a broad audience to make small behavior changes that will result in a big, positive impact on our local environment. Water quality education and outreach have been at the forefront of this education since our inception. The work created and executed during the proposed project will help to increase Greensource's capacity and set it up to continue broader water quality education in the long term.

To encourage sustainability, the Mini-Grant Program will include a contract that each recipient will sign. The contract will describe best practices for maintaining rain gardens and riparian buffers and include links and information to help homeowners understand how to manage their projects over the long term.

The education programs will include Greensource educators modeling best practices in environmental education in authentic contexts so teachers will feel more comfortable and confident implementing similar lessons and activities beyond the grant's end. In addition, information about Bluegrass Greensource's resource library will be promoted so that teachers understand how to check out needed materials after the grant period is over.

- 2) Personnel for Long-Term Implementation: This year, Bluegrass Greensource will celebrate its 20th anniversary as the state's premier environmental education organization. With many of its staff boasting more than 10 years with the organization, it has proven its ability to implement water quality programming on a long-term basis.
- 3) Ongoing Sources of Funding for Future Program Implementation beyond the Grant Period: For 20 years, Bluegrass Greensource has relied on grants and contracts to fulfill its mission, including its water quality education goals. Bluegrass Greensource currently works on grants and contracts to provide all three aspects of this program for communities outside of Lexington and will continue to search for funding to provide these opportunities in Fayette County.

PROJECT SUCCESS MEASURES

The following goals of the Incentive Grant Program will be met:

1. Improve water quality, reduce stormwater runoff, and educate citizens about local stormwater and water quality issues.
2. The success of the Mini-Grant Program will be realized if all 15 projects are implemented and the program participants indicate their increased understanding of stormwater issues through an evaluation process.
3. The public education interactions are expected to reach approximately 3,405 individuals with 4,530 interactions.
4. The Junior Nature Explorers and Creek Days Programs will include teacher and student evaluations and testimonies to assess the strength and effectiveness of the water education program. Bluegrass Greensource expects to see an increase in student growth / understanding in at least 70% of participating students.
5. Bluegrass Greensource will follow the North American Association of Environmental Education (NAAEE) Guidelines for Excellence for Nonformal Environmental Education for all program development.
