AMK9 is a privately owned business that is Auburn University's "commercial arm" to provide Vapor Wake® and all other forms of canine and handler training. Auburn University has a copy write and patent to protect the Vapor Wake® technology and AMK9 has the exclusive rights to this technology through a licensing agreement. Therefore, AMK9 is the only entity in the world to provide Vapor Wake® canines and handler training.

Additionally, AMK9, through the Auburn license trains dogs, handlers, trainers, and program managers in the performance of all facets of canine detection work. Instruction at AMK9 blends the craftsmanship of expert canine training professionals with the most recent technological advances. Auburn University has developed a highly successful Detector Dog Breeding Program to produce dogs specifically bred to be successful at detection work. The bloodlines have been further developed to meet the needs of specialized tasks of today's Vapor Wake® Canine Detection that AMK9 is providing.

Vapor Wake is the only National Center for Spectator Sport Safety and Security (NCS⁴) lab tested canine detection technology, approved for the detection of body worn explosives.

Again, due to the licensing, copy write and patent, Vapor Wake® can only be obtained from AMK9 in Anniston, AL.

Sincerely,

Charlie McGinty
