One Vapor Wake® - Explosives Detection Canine with Handler Course

For: Lexington Police Department (Attn: Sgt Peterson)

Description of Proposed Services: Provide 1 EDD/Vapor Wake® canine with handler course that meets and/or exceeds the Auburn University Evaluation Certification Guidelines. The canine will be trained to detect 10 different explosive odors. The following are additional terms:

- Purpose bred working Labrador or, with approval of customer, other sporting breed
- 24-month replacement guarantee for genetically linked conditions that limit service capacity or life (AMK9 reserves the right for evaluation by qualified veterinarian of their choosing)
- 12-month retrain/replace (AMK9 option) warranty for performance problems provided customer has not performed training activities inconsistent with those that handler was originally trained by AMK9 to conduct or engaged trainers other than those of AMK9 to correct a problem without concurrence of AMK9.
- 8 weeks handler-canine detection team training (7 weeks at AMK9, followed by 1 week in Lexington in the operational area) including certification of team on typical canine detection modalities
- Includes basic canine handling equipment and course materials
- In addition to typical detection handling and training in vehicles, building, luggage, freight/cargo, and passenger screening, the course includes instruction on canine health, safety, and welfare, principles of conditioning, explosive material safe handling and storage and documentation.
- Free phone/e-mail technical support and, on a space/time available basis, limited assistance with performance problems at AMK9 for service life of dog
- Does not include student lodging, food, or handler trainee/dog transportation in Anniston, AL

One EDD/Vapor Wake® Canine & Basic Handler Course: $49,000.00.

TOTAL for 1 EDD/Vapor Wake Canine & Basic Handler Courses: $49,000.00
